Truth, Power & Memory The Music of the High Holy Days

Close your eyes and remember the songs you love. Remember the time, the place and those present. Remember the feelings you felt and how alive and connected you were; filled with love and a shared purpose – the deep secrets of the world revealed.

Imagine this same experience but shared with thousands. The song is centuries old, deeply embedded in the collective memory; an eternal song, pulsing through the soul, filling the present with the past. The truth is the word, the power is the song. Together with the time, place and those present, it is the memory. It is Rosh HaShanah and Yom Kippur.

Music has been a central force in shaping the mind and human experience. In his most recent book The World in Six Songs, Professor Daniel J. Levitin describes through evolutionary science and musical examples the way our brains, bodies, thoughts and feelings respond to the creation of and participation in the music experience. Perhaps most importantly, he demonstrates the powerful ways in which music affects entire communities.

Many of our oldest melodies are sung during the High Holy Days, some dating as far back as the 10th century. Kol Nidrei likely originated sometime during the late 16th or early 17th century. The texts of our prayers range from biblical times to the present, amended at each new edition. Likewise the music we sing on these Days of Awe has been expanded to include the work of contemporary cantors and composers.

Our great challenge is that in order to achieve a deep and lasting memory of Rosh HaShanah and Yom Kippur we must know their songs and words. As a community of singers, share these sacred moments with us this new year.

Make the Time to Take the Time

Sukkot: Leviticus 23:2

Do you ever find yourself saying, “Wow, where did the time go?” or, “I would love to, if I only had the time,” or, “There are just not enough hours in the day?” Unfortunately, we are not usually referring to more time for work, email, phone calls, or school work. Rather, we are referring to time with family, friends, spouses and children.

The reality of our modern lives is that we could easily fill each moment with something that “needs” to get done – something for work or school. But the time with those whom we care about and who care about us will never happen without our commitment. If we do not make the time, we will never take the time. During Sukkot we take a break from the normal Torah progression and read from Leviticus and Numbers. Leviticus 23:2 states, “Speak to the Israelite people and say to them: These are My fixed times, the fixed times of Adonai, which you shall proclaim as sacred occasions.” We read this just after the High Holy Days and the promises we have made ourselves, in order to help us remember those promises. Make the time so you will take the time – to be with your family, your friends, your spouse, your children. And make this time sacred. Make it so sacred that no email, phone call or school work can invade it. It is our time to be with the ones we love. And in doing so, it is our time to be with God.

A Reflection from Haiti

It's 9 o'clock at night and the flight attendant has just refilled my glass from her bottle of Evian. A week ago, I would have thought nothing of it. A week ago I took the water that I drink, and the water that flows from the faucets in my house, for granted. Tonight, I can only think of the hundreds of people I've met in the last three days – those whose only water source is a murky, dirty creek that also serves as the village's bathtub and laundry mat.

Clean drinking water – the kind that flows freely from our faucets and that many of us choose not to drink but certainly could – is a luxury that few in Haiti have ever known. Over the past three days our trustee Andy Haas and I distributed over 500 Lifesaver Jerrycans to some of the neediest and most impoverished families in Haiti. The wonder in their eyes and smiles on their faces when they saw filthy water go into the Jerrycan and come out crystal clear was amazing. Thanks to your generosity and support we have provided over 1 million gallons of fresh, clean water to thousands of people in Haiti. Thank you.

This High Holy Day season, as we are inscribed for another year in the Book of Life, we can be proud of all those whose lives we have ensured with the gift of clean water. L'shanah Tovah.

Judaism: A Love Affair

The soft warm center of a freshly baked challah on Shabbat; sitting around the table with family and friends retelling the ancient story of Passover; lighting Shabbat and Chanukah candles; the taste of the perfect latke; the feeling of traveling through Israel; the melody of Kol Nidrei. Each of us has something we love about being Jewish. When was the last time you celebrated what you love about Judaism?

One night a year Jews the world over gather together to celebrate, dancing the night away. On Simchat Torah we dance with Torah in our arms as we embrace all that we love about being Jewish.

Several years ago, I was driving down Pico Boulevard when I saw people dancing in the street with a Torah. I thought it was quite odd, yet intriguing, so I pulled over to investigate. Within moments I was pulled into a circle of dancers with smiles on their faces and warmth in their eyes—it was Simchat Torah. I had never seen our people so joyful, so happy and having so much fun. Whether it is the perfect bagel or the writings of Buber, celebrate what you love about our tradition with good music, good food, and good people on Simchat Torah.

Beginnings

In this season of preparations and beginnings, the Brawerman community welcomes returning as well as new students and faculty members to our 2010-2011 (5771) school year.

New first grade teacher Sara Zuckerman brings us her experience, skill and warm smile from Pacific Palisades Charter School. Rabbi Lindy Reznick Davidson returns to Brawerman and our Hebrew/Judaic department where she began as the Hebrew teacher for our charter students before completing her rabbinical studies. Jyllian Siegel is part of the second grade team as an assistant teacher and also teaches classes in our Religious School. Hayley Dox, who provided supervision for students during lunch and after school, returns as an assistant teacher in the fourth grade.

This year our faculty includes two DeLeT Fellows: Marilyn Spitz (fourth grade) and Jill Toomin (first grade). DeLeT (literally doorway) is a program of the Rhea Hirsch School of Education of Hebrew Union College in which qualified new teachers earn a preliminary California State Multiple Subject Teaching Credential and a Certificate in Day School Teaching. While attending classes at the college, they work in the classroom supported by general studies and Judaic teachers, and are supervised and guided by an HUC clinical educator. As educator Roland Barth reminds us, "Nothing has more potent impact on children than the personal and professional growth of teachers."

Hannah Bennett, our Director of Strategic Programs, has been an integral part of the administrative team for the past two years, and has added a new title to her name and new responsibilities to her portfolio. Hannah earned her Doctorate in Education from UCLA last June and will become the site director of Brawerman Elementary School East. Dr. Bennett will continue many of her administrative duties at the Irmas Campus this year as she prepares to open the new campus along with Head of School Nadine Breuer in September 2011.

Besha'ah Tovah Umutzlachat! May it be a good and successful beginning!

Early Childhood Centers

The Early Childhood Centers Go to Israel

This past summer 24 faculty members from the Early Childhood Centers went on a 12 day trip to Israel. They toured Jerusalem, floated in the Dead Sea, tasted delicious cuisine, waded through Hezekiah's Water Tunnels, stood in amazement before the 1,600 year old synagogue floor at Hamat Tiveria, went to the newly renovated Israel Museum and soaked in the amazing culture and heritage of the Jewish people. In addition, they met with world renowned early childhood educational specialist Dr. Naama Zoran for three days of workshops. As a result, the teachers returned home invigorated and excited to bring what they learned into their classrooms. Their experience was simply sabbaba!

HISTORIC “PRESIDENTS’ DINNER” REUNITES EIGHT TEMPLE LEADERS

Artist's Conception of the Temple Campus after Redevelopment.

Twenty-three years of Wilshire Boulevard Temple leadership were represented at the Presidents’ Dinner, a recent event that reunited eight presidents and their spouses. In attendance were: Terry and Lionel Bell (1987-1991); Lily Tartikoff and Bruce Karatz (1994-1997); Bunny Wasser and Howard Bernstein (1994-1997); Christina and Mark Siegel (1997-2000); Susan and Don Schwarz (2000-2003); Makiko and Bruce Friedman (2003-2006); Julie Miller (2006-2009) and Marc Binenfeld, and Dana and Richard Pachulski (2009-present). Also in attendance were Betsy and Rabbi Steve Leder and architect Brenda Levin and her husband, David Abel.

Hosted by Julie Miller, Rich Pachulski and Bruce Karatz, the dinner provided an opportunity for the Temple’s leadership to hear a detailed presentation from Brenda Levin and Rabbi Leder about the progress of the Building Lives project. It marked the first time in memory that all past presidents had come together on behalf of the Temple they served so well. The presidents viewed conceptual drawings of the project and learned many of the details about the project’s phasing and design.

Rabbi Leder gave a fundraising update and spoke of the generosity of the congregants who have supported the project. All warmly reminisced about their years on the Board of Trustees and the Temple they all love so dearly. An additional million dollars was pledged as a result of the Presidents’ Dinner.

In its 148-year history, the Temple has had 22 presidents, many of whom played important roles in the civic and business life of Los Angeles. Joseph Newmark, the first president, took office in 1862 after serving as the city’s first kosher butcher and then the rabbi of the nascent congregation B’nai Brith. He was succeeded in 1872 by Isaias W. Hellman, who helped bring the Southern Pacific Railroad to Los Angeles and whose banking enterprises ultimately became the Wells Fargo Bank. Hellman’s life was chronicled in a 2008 biography called Towers of Gold: How One Jewish Immigrant Named Isaias Hellman Created California.

Harris Newmark (1881-1885), who succeeded Hellman, was a founder of the L.A. Public Library, the Chamber of Commerce and laid out the city of Montebello. In 1900, Kaspare Cohn took office as president and led the congregation for 10 years. He was a business partner of Harris Newmark and a philanthropist who founded the predecessor organizations that grew to become the City of Hope and the Jewish Federation.

The Temple’s rich history and stature as one of our city’s most important religious institutions is due in no small measure to the leadership from the 19th century to the 21st. We are grateful to our past presidents for their ongoing commitment and support for our vibrant future through the Building Lives Project.
